

Computer Technology: e-Skills

The course is designed to enable students to acquire practical IT skills. It prioritises PC communication and information roles in links with the Internet, electronic mail and WWW browsers. Students become familiar with three main types of usage applications, namely, MS Word, MS Excel and MS Power Point. The first part of the course deals with basic theory, whilst the second part focuses on application of the theory and refinement of e-skills.